Knox United Church Retains Rev. Mitchell

On hearing that the Rev. A. J. Mitchell, who had been advised by his physicians to seek another charge where there would be less driving, on account of physical disability, would now be able to continue his work here, the congregations at Didsbury and Westcott at once took steps to retain his services. At the congregational meetings held Sunday a resolution embodying the request for him to reconsider his resignation was passed unanimously, for which the Presbytery is to be asked to confirm at its next meeting.

Obituary.

DONALD M'CALE.

It was with deep regret that the citizens of Didsbury learned of the death of Mr. Donald McRae, who died at Calgary on Tuesday April 11th 1933. Mr. McRae was taken seriously ill on Saturday and was removed to a Calgary hospital on Sunday, but all efforts to give him relief failed, and he passed away early Tuesday morning.

Donald McRae, who was 53 years of age, was born at Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. During the Boer war he joined the Canadian forces and served his country in South Africa.

In March 1908 he was married to Miss Christina Hadden at Melfort, Sask. For several years they farmed in that district and afterwards they conducted a general store and post office at Prince Sask. In 1925 Mr. McRae joined the Bawlf Elevator Co. as grain buyer and came to Didsbury from Iricana in 1928.

During his life here he acquired a host of friends and gained the respect of the whole community. He was a member of the Masonic Order and attended the Knox United Church.

He leaves to mourn his loss: his widow; four sons, Allan, of Elkton; Lawrence and Ronald, of Calgary, and Edwin, of Didsbury; his mother, Mrs. C. McRae, of Flattersburg, Sask.; four brothers, Peter, of Flattersburg; Murdoch, of San Diego, and William and Joseph, of Speers, Sask.; two sisters, Mrs. Stanton, of Melfort, and Mrs. J. Flett, of Bindloss, Alberta.

The funeral will be held today, Thursday April 13th at 2:30 p.m. Rev. A. J. Mitchell will conduct the service. The Masonic Order will have charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Frank Stevens, son Carman and little daughter Mona, are spending a few days this week with Mrs. Stevens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johansson, of Red Deer.

A Financial Jig Saw Puzzle.

The fact has been noted in this column on previous occasions that during the past two or three years everybody has been discussing the monetary situation prevailing in the world today, and expressing opinions and offering solutions. In regard thereto even though they lacked the most elementary knowledge of the subject. People informed and uninformed, from the most outstanding economists and financiers to the most indifferent student or casual newspaper reader, have discussed banking, currency, credits, the gold standard, inflation, deflation, international exchange, and a host of allied subjects, with the same freedom and frequently with the same assurance with which they are in the habit of discussing the weather.

Thus, of course, people have a right to do, but the net result has been the dissemination of a vast amount of misinformation and utterly unaided theories, the outcome of which is that large numbers of people are not thinking straight on this important subject, while the majority of the population are hopelessly bewildered and confused, and do not know whose or what opinions to accept as sound and a safe guide to action.

Nor is this to be wondered at, because even some of the most generally accepted theories, theories advanced by world famous economists, have been proven incorrect when put to the test of actual experience. This was demonstrated in most startling fashion in the United States in the first few days of February and the first days of March. Events across the line moved with great rapidity, and the outcome was to upset previously held views in some important particulars.

Great Britain went off the gold standard in order to check the draining away of its gold reserves and to stop the export of gold from the country. It frankly and officially announced it had gone off the gold standard. The United States had accumulated more than a third of all the gold in the world, yet it, too, reached the point where it was necessary to stop all gold export, just as Canada had stopped it. But, unlike Great Britain, both Canada and the United States insisted they were still on the gold standard. So, people are asking, what is a gold standard? Just what does it mean?

But the most surprising development of all came in the United States. The Government authorized the issue of some billions of dollars of new paper money which was not backed by gold at all, yet the government insisted the country was still on the gold standard. The issue of this new currency was tantamount to inflation, nevertheless the Government announced it was "sound money," notwithstanding that it had no gold backing, because it was supported by real assets.

Now, according to formerly generally accepted financial opinion, the issue of such new currency unbacked by gold would have the effect of depreciating the value of the country's currency. That is, the United States dollar would drop in value below the gold standard. The result of this was the "amazing" thing that happened was, instead of the United States dollar being worth less in terms of Canadian dollars or British pounds, it actually increased in value and was worth more. The discount on the Canadian dollar in the United States was increased, and the premium on the United States dollar in Canada became larger.

This process was exactly the reverse of what every financial authority and authoritative economist in Canada had been telling the people of this Dominion would be the effect of inflating our currency by the issue of new paper money which was not supported by a gold backing. Such inflation, we were told, would be the abandonment of "sound money," would result in a further depreciation of our money on the world's money markets, and would seriously injure our credit. But the United States proceeds to inflate to the tune of billions of dollars, the Government declares it is "sound money," and instead of United States dollars depreciating on foreign exchange markets, they actually increase in value.

If this is the effect in the United States, why should an exactly opposite effect be the result in Canada if a similar policy was indulged in? It will be interesting to hear the explanations of our Canadian financiers and economists.

It has been widely contended that inflation should be indulged in by Canada to an extent sufficient to bring the Canadian dollar to a parity with the British pound and thereby promote a larger exchange of trade between the two countries and secure to the primary producer in Canada a better price in Canadian dollars for the products he sold in Great Britain. But, it was likewise argued, another effect would be to increase the already heavy premium Canada is now obliged to pay on all its commitments in the United States.

But, as already noted, inflation in the United States had not worked this way, but in exactly the opposite. It has not brought the United States dollar to parity with the British pound, but rather away from it. It has not increased the premium which Canada has to pay in New York, but increased it. It inflation worked the same way in Canada it would not prove an advantage to the primary producers, who have been urging inflation, but impose a further loss upon them; it would not add to the burden of our governments and business interests having large commitments to meet in New York, and who have therefore opposed inflation, but it would assist them.

It is all far more confusing than a jig-saw puzzle because the pieces of the puzzle do not fit together at all, while in the popular puzzles of today the pieces can be made to fit.

Empire As Security

The British Empire was put up as security for a loan of $1,000 in the United States money to pay off the 500 sailors of the British cruiser "Norfolk" in New Orleans, on a coasting call. The ship's payroll date fell due with all hands aboard and the sailors faced shore leave without spending money.

Sun Will Shine Again

The sun will shine again. One does not require an easy and unbounded optimism to know that this is true. ## Wheat In Perfect Condition

Inspection Shows Wheat Stored In Churchill Elevators In Good Shape

The 2,500,000 bushels of wheat in the Churchill terminal elevators are in perfect condition, according to T. O. Cliff, general superintendent of other companies of the same company, who arrived at The Pas, Man., aboard the bi-monthly "muskeg" train from the sea. Mr. Cliff and a staff of experts, as well as representatives for the board of grain commissioners, Winnipeg, spent two weeks inspecting the grain in storage in the port.

Tests were made concerning temperatures in a number of bins. The power plant was also put into operation, and was said to have functioned well.

This was the first mid-winter test of grain in Churchill. It is said that the first elevator operating crew will move into port about the middle of May.

Passenger from Churchill stated that the shore ice at the mouth of the harbor extended about three miles into the bay. One man yanked in harbor work under low temperatures stated that ice-breakers could open Churchill harbor for shipping now, so far as the port was concerned.

Returned To Land

Over Three Thousand Families Assisted By C.N.R. Last Year

Not since the war has Canada experienced such a landward movement from urban communities as that which has taken place during the past year, according to a report issued by Dr. W. J. Black, director of colonization for Canadian National Railways.

The department has assisted 3,402 families during the past year in finding new farm homes, involving a total of half a million acres of land. The department also cooperated in the settlement of 1,413 unemployed families under the relief settlement plan, financed on a tri-partite basis by the Dominion and Provincial Governments and the municipalities in which the families had lived.

Queen Prefers Comedies

Nothing Else On Talkie Program Chosen By Queen Mary

The Queen's preference in moving pictures is for comedies. So the picture learned when it visited the theatre where the Queen saw her first talking picture. The program chosen by Queen Mary was composed entirely of comedies, headed by a popular British film. Proceeds were devoted to the Richmond Hospital. The younger members of the Royal Family have been "talkie" fans for a long time.

Fruit Trees In Canada

There are 279,472 acres planted to fruit trees in Canada, according to information obtained from the decennial census taken in 1931. On this acreage there are 19,618,918 apple trees; 1,011,162 peach trees; 691,002 pear trees; 822,870 plum trees, and 667,703 cherry trees.

Lakes Failed In Ice Yield

Nova Scotia Faces Ice Famine Due To Mild Winter

Nova Scotia is facing an ice famine and no matter how much the prices of other commodities may drop, the price of ice is due for a sharp rise next summer. The thousand lakes which have hitherto yielded an annual harvest to the ice men have failed in their yield and instead of the customary sixteen to twenty inches have shown only three to six inches. True is probably the only town in Nova Scotia where the cutters were able to sink their blades into the usual depth. Truro ice men are preparing to stock an extra supply to meet demands from the outside market.

Winter passed Nova Scotia and particularly Halifax, very lightly in 1932. Following the warmest December in 29 years, January and February were unusually mild. The thermometer did not once touch the zero mark and while terrific storms swept the coast these were mostly rain and wind.

Caribou and Fish Plentiful

Trader Says Subsistence Means Little In Sub-Arctic

Depression means little in the north country where there is abundance of fish and large herds of caribou, according to James Durvish, fur trader of Port Rae, on Great Slave Lake. It was the trader's first trip out of the "Territories" in 20 years.

Modern conveniences, such as the radio and aeroplane, have greatly changed life in the sub-Arctic, Mr. Durvish said. The 200-mile journey from the end of the steamer Port Rae formerly a month's trek by dog team, today is covered by plane in six or seven hours.

Mails are delivered monthly in place of the old half-yearly service, and a fur trader now can move his furs "outside" and sell them shortly after they are trapped.

Scotland Yard Used Movies

Film Showing Man Hunt Shown In English Theatres

Scotland Yard is now employing motion pictures to trace criminals. One of the most intensive man-hunts ever instigated by Scotland Yard was recently carried on in Great Britain and motion pictures were said to have been playing an important part.

Films showing a police description and pictures of a man wanted for murder were currently shown in practically all of the theatres in England with an appeal to the public to assist in the search.

As a fuel conservation measure, those bearing even-numbered license plates can be operated only on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and those with odd numbered plates on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Fortune In Antiques

Furniture Discovered By Collector Makes Hotel Owner Rich

A hotel owner in New York has learned he has a gold mine in the lobby of his hotel in antique furniture, bronzes and works of art valued conservatively at more than $200,000. The treasures had been there 10 years, and were regarded as just so many ornamental additions to the hotel's standard equipment.

An antique collector, passing through the lobby, fell on his knees in front of a $5,000 Louis XV, parquetry desk, searching for the masterpiece's name. It was being used as a common writing desk in the hotel's writing room. Nearby was a $10,000 English grandfather's clock, an Elizabethan table of carved oak, some rare marble and bronze statuettes and huge Italian marble mantelpieces worth $50,000. The collector sought out the owner, and offered to buy certain articles at prices which made the hotelman immediately consult a dealer.

The owner said the things had been collected by his father-in-law, now dead, who was former owner of the hotel. They had been placed there after his death because the heirs had no other place to put them.

Placing the Blame

Sun Spot Caused Recent Radio Disturbance Says Professor

Was your radio full of rumbles, roars, squawks and squeals during a recent week? If it was, blame the sun, says Professor John Gold, director of the Bucknell University Observatory.

Through a telescope, he said he spotted a sun spot on the sun, with an estimated diameter of 5,000 miles. This spot was at the minimum of its cycle, unusual at this stage. Professor Gold said similar but much larger spots upset telegraph and telephone systems November 17, 1882.

"Poetry should be written on one side of the paper only, shouldn't it?" asked the young versifier. "That depends on the poetry," replied the editor, wearily. "Lots of it shouldn't be written on either side."
